We observe a series of resolution ers who declare that they voted for secession, protesting against guerilla warfare. This is no more than we had a right to expect. Guerillas are the common enemies of society. There is one instance in American history to show precisely what guerilla warfare is- the ravages of the tories of the revolution and the heartless butchery and devastation by which the smiling and peaceful valley of Wyoming was wade desolate. These were the guerrillas of that war, and their acts the example of what guerilla warfare is.

The effect of such a scheme on the par art of the rebels should be to bind all the people of Kentucky in a common cause to resist and destroy them. Their ravages promote no good to either side, It not delay the result of the conflict an hour, and will only injure the noncombatant. No man, of no matter what political opinions, should suffer himself to be deceived for a moment as to the real character of these partisan bands. They are highway robbers-nothing else. There is no moral or political reason why they should not be punished just as they would in time of peace. Those who aid and abet them, under no matter what pretense, should be tried at the common law, not as aiders and abettors of treason, but as aiders and abettors of robbery These partisans should be left to the griminal law. When it is proved on them, in open court, that they have killed, or plundered, or destroyed property, not under military necessity, but simply to harass quiet citizens, they should be placed upon the common footing of the murderer, the burglar, or the incendiary.

There should be a broad distinction be tween these men and those engaged in open rebellion, as bona fide soldiers. The one is entified to the honorable treatment we give a mistake. We have reason to believe he robber, taking advantage of turbulent times to commit outrages. He should not be dignified or entitled to the privileges of the higher, yet less base, crime of rebellion. Those who aid and shet them should be treated as common criminals. The ball and chain, and daily labor in the penitentiary, should teach them that society will not brook their aiding its enemies. I any of these are arrested, as doubtless they will be, by the military, they should be turned over to the State authorities, tried as be careful. We have a Whit-taker down the accomplices of common robbers, and there, punished as such. We are opposed to such men being allowed, under the plea of dis loyalty, to take the oath and give bond, and go free. We are opposed to giving them even the privilege of Fort Warren and idleness. Put them in the penitentiary, and make them earn their bread until they learn that the State is guardian of the laws, and will not see them broken.

We guarantee that if some three or four of the kid-gloved, broadclothed aiders of guerillas are indulged in the delights of breaking stone and making shoes, the rest will conclude that to aid robbery is no such dignified employment as they had assumed it t be. A stigma should be fixed upon every man who aids such things by words or deeds. If it is not done, by law and society, it shows a depraved and disgraceful state of morals, unbecoming a Christian commu

We have no idea of making a romance o crime, and clothing it with virtues that do not belong to it. Newgate calendar contains the exploits of just such heroes, equally daring and equally honest. If the rebellion fails, the soldiers and abler Generals will force respect from mankind, from their courage in maintaining ven a bad cause. These guerillas, howver, ao matter what the result may be, in a few years all parties will wish to hush up, as an offense too rank and disgraceful ar civilization, to be confessed before the world. Men will then outvie each other in condemning it. It is the duty now, of our citizens to join in condemning it. No honorable Secessionist, however bitter his feelings, can feel anything but ortification at the adoption of such a ode of warfare. Those who defend it are either ignorant in spite of history and example, of what guerilla warfare is, or are a base as the guerillas themselves.

It is a revival of crime in Kentucky that st be severely dealt with. It becomes the State to act with decision in repressing it. It would be a bitter reflection if history should record that Kentucky was overrun with common robbers, who were aided by her own citizens.

The destruction of cotton, sugar, to eco, &c., by the Confeds, is very well, if the process be left to the owners of these articles. It is very well to talk of patriotism and sacrifices; but it's better to show that a man has done his duty. We know that the conduct of Colonel Dunham is very unsatisfactory to some of the most loyal men of that region. Some how or other he has not their confidence; nor do they feel secure from danger by the pres ence of the Colonel.

We don't know personally anything or this subject; but it is not worth while to tell us about the sacrifices a man makes who accepts the office of Colonel. There are thousands eager to make such a sacrifice. Colonel Dunham ought to satisfy the loyal men of his vicinity. If he can't do it, he had better change his location for one to which he is better adapted.

The Grape-Vine Telegraph.

Editors Democrat-Gentlemen: The grapeine telegraph is busy at work 'way up have the telegraph to this place; it centers from all points, and terminates at that classical, elegantly gotten up bubble of a rebel hole, Perryville. From that point a daily express runs to Haysville, of which Mc-& Co. are expressmen. We are kept continually posted through these immaculate expressmen; they are never tiring in the performance of their express duty. No matter whether it rains or shines; whether the roads are good or bad; whether bridges are ourned or washed away, the express must and will come. On it depend the topics of numerous corner loafers, enlightened specimens of laziness, cigar smokers, and of the upholders of Southern Rights generally. The time for its applyal is not generally known. The indefatigable employes are nes before and sometimes behind hand. Yet news must come, and news to suit the taste of those for whom it is intended; if it is scarce, the Perryville telegrapher draws upon his imagination, which, we must acknowledge, is of unprecedented size; equal, in proportion, to Falistaff's belly, and probably as full figf the rankest ompound of villainous smell that ever offended the mind's nostril." In truth. Messrs. Editors, we think the telegrapher (we don't know who he is) is at times non compus mentus—subject to horrible dreams, fantasies, vain fancies, evil imaginings, bad thoughts—is a prey to demons, sees devils, fears a shadow, thinks they are a reality, and at once awears it is. To-day's news reads thus:

"Merrimac in existence, playing thunder on James river, Feds humbugged; Washington City captured; Halleck whipped; 20,000 Feds killed; Beauregard will demolish the whole of Halleck's army; New Orleans not taken.'

Upon the reception of this, corner-loafers danced and sung beistergusly, whisky disappeared rapidly, cigar-smokers puffed more freely, and laughingly blew smoke from before them. Visions of wrecked Monitors and Galenas, of perishing Yandees of the puffing Marines blowing kees, of the puffing Merrimac blowing up Father Abe. danced before them; and they complacently murmur—"there's a hole made in your best coat, Father Abe." They grow loquacious, and enlighten the ignorant upon the value of Confederate victories, and of the impossibility of the Merrimac's being blown up. They return to their homes feeling better, rest easy dur-ing the night, and dream of King Cotton and Davig.

Having a large number of friends, and wishing to put their friendship to the test, he directed in his will that should he die between October and March, his funeral should take place at 8 o'clock in the morning, or at 6, should he die during the other months in the year. Invitations were to be sent to all his friends. Each male who attended was to receive 5,000 francs and each female 8,000 francs. Four hundred invitations were accordingly sent out, asking attendance at the funeral at 6 o'clock in the morning, and out of the whole number, only 29 proved faithful. These were agreeably surprised a few days after, on receiving the information that 5,000 francs each was at their disposal at their dead friend's notary's. A Singular Will Case.

HARLAEM, April 20, 1862. Ninety-two years ago a rich miser, named Tylaer, lived and died in this city. His passion for hearding grew with his years, and became finally intensihed. His only sustenance, for two or three years before he died, was a pint of milk, with a piece of dry bread, daily. Tylaer therefore, purchased half a pint at the fron and the same quantity at the back door He had been twice married, but had lost his wives, and never had children. He lived

All his best horses and mules had been stolen. He invited the crowd to his house gave them a lunch, and begged them to call when they came back, when he would give them a good supper. They did so, and the men enjoyed an excellent repast. The old man apologized for the absence of coffee, saying it was worth one dollar per pound, and none to be had at that price. The soldier boys rummaged their haversacks and dier boys rummaged their haversacks, and shook out about four pounds, which they presented to him. They offered pay for their supper, but the host would not accept anything; but so well pleased were the heavy that they made up a little purse of $10 in silver and left it but the table—more of the argentine metal, probably, than the old man field, and by artifical observation studied had seen for a year.

Within the past three days the disposition of the whole rebel army, before Richmon ems to have been changed, and instead of the repels retreating, with all their supplies and camp equipage, toward the city, they are coming from it, in large numbers, and are evidently determined to make a stand between it and the Chicahominy river. It was ascertained, beyond a doubt, that five days ago but a small force of the enemy, say six thousand men, occupied the ground between us and Richmond. It was then supposed that our march into the city would be easy and rapid, and that an opportunity would soon be given to the Union citizens of that place to demonstrate their delight

A deserter, just arrived from a Georgia regiment, states that between Richmond and Mechanicsville, and about one and a half miles from the latter place, three Georgia regiments have encamped since morning. He says that Beauregard arrived in Rich-mond last Thursday, and that a most vigormond last Intraday, and that a most rigor-ous attempt will be made to save the city. Last night our gunboats on James river threw a few shells into the rebel batteries, but with what effect we did not learn.

Yesterday we had cars running from West Point to the Chickahominy river This new facility for getting supplies, guns and ammunition to the city, can be appreciated.

A deserter, who came in this morning reports the main body of the Confederate army on the north side of the railroad. The brigade of Mississippi troops to which he belanged were doing picket duty on this side. The rebels claim, 150,000 80,000, he asserts, will cover their entire force. Much dissatisfaction exists among them on account of the conscription act, and many would be glad to lay down their arms did not pride forbid them. The leaders are determined to make a stand, having chosen a position near Richmond for that purpose. (From the Petersburg Express, 22d).

A municipal regulation of the city of New Orleans punishes with imprisonment in the caliboose any women of the town found in the streets after nightfall; or who may converse from the windows of their houses with persons outside. FORT MONROE, May 28. Sunday morning for City Point with a flag of truce, returned early this morning. The boat took up Col. Hanson, of Kentucky, who was expected to be exchanged for Col. Corcoran; and also Capt. Robertson, of Virginia, Lieut. Whittaker, a private, a lady, and Mr. Lowe, of Kentucky. The boat arrived at City Point on Sunday evening. The next morning Gen. Wool's communications were delivered, and on Tuesday morning an answer was had from Gen. Huger Col. Corcoran and the other prisoners not having been delivered up, Col. Hanson and the other officers were brought back.

Col. Hanson is very severe upon General Huger for his falture to fulfill his promises. Our gunboat fleet still remains fifteen of wenty miles below City Point. "By command of Major General Wool," Quite a disturbance took place in Nor-folk last night. Three negroes were killed, and two or three wounded. Six of the ring All is quiet now.

Several letters have been received at Ha ana from New Orleans, from rebel sources pretending to give accounts of the defeat of den. Halleck, and also that Gen. The Cairo correspondent of the Republican says troubles are breaking out of East and Western Tennessee. WASHINGTON, May 29. Gen. McClellan telegraphs the Secretary f War that the battle at Hanover Courthouse resulted in the complete rout of the enemy. It is stated that we have taken 5,000 prisoners. The loss of the enemy is set down at 1,000. Our men buried 100 of their dead. Our loss is 375, in killed and wounded, and missing, of which 53 were killed. The forces opposed to us were principally from North Carolina and Georgia. isoners from North Carolina say they are very tired of the war, and that defeat will have a very demoralizing effect on the rebel army.

"LOUISVILLE REAPER."

DESCRIPTION OF THE "LOUISVILLE REAPER."

THIS MACHINE WEIGHS 500 POUNDS, CUTS 6½ FEET WIDE, AND FROM 4 TO 24 INCHES HIGH. IT IS OF LIGHT DRAFF, AND WITHOUT APPARENT side-draft. It will cut, under favorable circumstances, from 15 to 25 acres per day. There is no driver's seat on the Machine: this lessens the weight, and leaves all the gearing and boxes convenient for oiling or adjusting. The driver rides the horse on the opposite side from the cutters, and is in no danger of being run over, should be accidentally fail. The gearing is all recursed in an fron fram; the bearines are long and secure from dirt. With care this part of the Machine will least for many years. The high-cut of the "Louisville Reaper" raves the handling of a large portion of the heaviest part of the straw, and the forker lays off the grain in perfect bundles, about easily as uron the ordinary low-cut Machines, which are not capable of doing over one-half the amount of work per day. The change from lowest to highest cut can be mady two persons in one minute. Farmers who usually have had to spend a half hour in making this change will appreciate this improvement. A lever extends from the tongue to the frame to give the platform the proper inclination. The Machine is perfectly balanced. There is no weight upon the horses necks, except the tongue an neck yoke:

MOWER." LOUISVILLE

DESCRIPTION OF THE "LOUISVILLE MOWER."

THIS MACHINE IS MADE ALMOST ENTIRELY OF IRON; IT IS EXCERDINGLY COMPACT AND SIMPLE, AND STRONG BEYOND ANY POSSIBILITY OF breaking. It cuts a swarh 4 leet 4 inches wide, and cut; even and smooth in all kinds of grass. It has a lever for raising the finger-bar from the ground for passing obstructions, or for moving from field to field. It is arranged to throw itself out of gear when backing, and is convenient to handle in every respect. It weights about 600 pounds, which is heavier than several of the newly invented Machines, but none too heavy, we think, to stand the rough and careless usage to which all Mowers are subject. The tongue is loose, and there is no weight on the horses' neck. PRICE...

We commenced the manufacture of Harvesters last season, with the belief that we could furnish Machines better suited to the wants of our Farmers than any already introduced. Our plan is to make separate, not combined, Machines; when made for the special purpose, they can be simple, cheap, and durable, white combined they are necessarily complex and costly, and generally, after one season's use, out of order. We made but few Machines for last harvest, but those, so far as heard from performed well, as the certificates which we offer in our descriptive circular, for it those who have had experience with Harvesters, will show.
